

Michael S. (Mike) Moore is a Senior Manager at CCIS Construction Consultants, Inc. where he has provided engineering and construction expert services to owners, contractors, attorneys and others for the past 10 years. As both a licensed professional engineer and general contractor, Mike brings a unique perspective of more than 40 years of continuous construction experience to a wide range of commercial/residential planning, design and contracting. Mike has taught numerous continuing education seminars for licensed Florida contractors covering a broad range of construction management topics including cost accounting, quality control and means and methods for improved general operations. Mike holds civil engineering and general contractor licenses in several states and remains active in general contracting in Charlotte, North Carolina where he resides.